Inter-America Peace Group Shelves Case

Commission Agrees
To Halt Consideration
Of Guatemala Charge

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP)—The Inter-American Peace Commission today agreed to a last-minute Guatemalan request to suspend temporarily its consideration of a Guatemalan complaint alleging a "foreign aggression" against her.

The action was taken at an open meeting of the five-nation group at the Pan-American Union. The decision was unanimous.

The commission, however, made it clear it was not giving up its interest in the charges against Honduras and Nicaragua raised by Guatemala, nor did it acknowledge that the United Nations has complete jurisdiction in the case.

In another Washington development today, the State Department said the government of strife-torn Guatemala had pledged to "make every effort" to protect about 1,200 U.S. citizens in that country.

Americans May Leave

The department spokesman, press officer Lincoln White, said Guatemala also has agreed to let the Americans leave the country if they want to, but "up to the present time this does not appear to be necessary."

Other officials said U.S. Ambassador John Peurifoy at Guatemala City has full power to act if evacuation of U.S. citizens should become necessary. They said Peurifoy could recommend any techniques, including airlifting, he felt was necessary.

White read a statement which described as "exaggerated" many of the reports of developments in Guatemala. He said he had no solid additional information about conditions there since Saturday, when the department reported there were disturbances in three areas of the country.

Russia Vetoes Move In U.N.

Yesterday, a Russian veto scuttled a move in the United Nations to refer the Guatemalan complaint of aggression to the Western Hemisphere's regional organization, the Organization of American States.

The U. N. Security Council then voted unanimously for a cease-fire in Guatemala and for all U.N. members to withhold aid from fighting forces there.

Unfavorable reaction in Latin America to the Soviet veto—which was accepted as a Moscow boost to the Guatemalan regime—was reported to have caused some second thoughts among the Guatemalan diplomatic strategists.

Truman Sits Up, Takes One Step

KANSAS CITY, June 21 (AP)—After two days in the hospital and a major operation, Harry S. Truman already is talking about getting out.

The former President was reported cheerful and making a satisfactory recovery although in some pain after the emergency operation early Sunday morning in which his gall bladder and appendix were removed.

He sat up in bed for as long as half an hour and took one step today.

Dewey Mum On Plans

ALBANY, N.Y., June 21 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, indicating that he was reluctant to seek a fourth term, announced today he was "deferring any statement" on his plans at the request of New York State Republican leaders.

"Psychology" Gesture

Two Billion That Isn't To Be Spent Included In Army Fund

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP)—A cutting of the army's expenditures down to two billion a year, a "psychology" gesture—money that isn't to be spent but looks good to foes of appropriations to the Army for procurement and production. No new cash is carried in this year's Defense Department bill for the purpose, but the measure does authorize spending of five billions of carryover money. Defense Department officials explained in the closed-door hearings that two billions of this would not be spent in fiscal 1955—the 12 months beginning July 1.

This led senators on the appropriations committee to suggest the two billion be transferred to regular Army operations in the next year, thus permitting a further two-billion reduction in the new cash budget.

He said Pentagon officials believed "it is better to leave it there with the idea you are not

Miss Maureen Ragen was near tears at this point at an inquest into the death of her fiancé, Montgomery Ward Thorne, at Chicago yesterday. Miss Ragen, 18, told that Thorne had been arrested 18 months ago as a dope addict on complaint of his mother who also accused him of habitual drunkenness. He was found dead in his studio apartment Saturday.

Building Erected At Dizzying Pace

NEW YORK, June 21 (AP)—Sixty-one workmen put up the aluminum walls of a 22-story office building today in 9½ hours, while hundreds of sidewalk superintendents gawked in amazement.

The thin, prefabricated sheets of aluminum, each one two stories high, were bolted into place at the rate of a story every 38 minutes. Norman Tishman, president of the realty company that is building the new structure at 57th St. and Park Ave., said the job normally would have taken eight to 10 weeks.

The metal panels, two stories high, four and a half feet wide and one-eighth inch thick, were swung into place with block and tackle. The workmen started at 6 a.m., knocked off for lunch at 12:30, and finished the job at 4 p.m.

Senator Piles Up 5 To 1 Lead Over Opponent

Woman Legislator
Drubs Man She Says
Is McCarthy Backer

PORTLAND, Maine, June 21 (AP)—Sen. Margaret Chase Smith won a smashing victory in the Maine primary tonight from Robert L. Jones—the man with whom she contends Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) apparently tried to defeat her.

The woman senator, who began criticizing McCarthy and his Communist-hunting methods four years ago, built up an unbeatable lead when returns from 368 of Maine's 626 precincts pushed her out front 42,133 to 8,010 for the Republican senatorial nomination.

Not Defeat For McCarthy

While it was a landslide defeat for Jones, it couldn't be labeled that for the controversial McCarthy. The Wisconsin senator never was a real, concrete issue through the course of the campaign.

It was only at the last minute, on the eve of the primary, that Mrs. Smith produced the claim that McCarthy apparently planted Jones in the race deliberately.

Whether or not McCarthy had a hand in fostering Jones' candidacy, the people of Maine apparently just weren't concerned. Their choice was pretty much between the senator and Jones as individuals. And Maine likes Mrs. Smith.

Voters of the state, in cities, in farming country, and in small towns out through the land of woods and lakes, made that amply evident from the minute the vote counting began.

Jones Is Outcasted

And the senator stepped out to a 4 to 1 lead on the basis of the first returns, from 20 precincts. She held the margin when the tally was in from 18 more. She stretched it to 5 to 1 for 60 precincts and then moved into better than a five to one lead when returns rolled in from 120 polling places.

That still was the edge at the moment she clinched her victory. By that time, Jones had managed to carry only two small precincts, while the senator had blanked him without a vote in 18 and come close to it in many more.

Ex-Track Star Hits Liquor Ads

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP)—Glenn Cunningham, the famous Kansas miler of the 1930s, testified before a Senate Commerce subcommittee today that the attractiveness of alcoholic beverage advertising is a major influence in causing young people to drink.

He appeared in favor of a bill by Sen. Langer (R-Ind.) which would ban interstate advertising of alcoholic beverages by radio, television, newspapers, magazines and other media.

The Langer bill is similar to one on which hearings were held recently by the House Commerce Committee. That committee has taken no action on the legislation.

Chairman Purtell (R-Conn.) of the Senate group drew from several witnesses the statement that the American people are not ready for prohibition but that it may come in the next 20 years.

Cunningham, who made track history at Kansas University and carried on his athletic career until 1940, testified he was interested in helping youth "find a better way of life."

American Medical Association by Drs. E. Cuyler Hammond and Dan El Horn, director and assistant director, statistical research, of the ACS.

They said they had not expected to have significant results for another year, but that the information already obtained seemed so important it was being announced now.

They said it is "a matter for speculation" whether the findings apply to men younger than 50, or to women who smoke.

They wouldn't say what their own speculations are.

Mundt Says Hearings Could Run 20 Years, Not Get Whole Truth

EASY VICTOR—Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (above) registered a smashing victory over McCarthy admirer Robert L. Jones in yesterday's Maine Republican senatorial primary.

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP)—Sen. Mundt (R-S.D.) said today the salient points of the McCarthy-Army controversy have now emerged "but you could never run down the past possible grain of evidence."

"You could go on with this thing for 20 years and not get the whole truth, the last little kernel and scintilla of evidence," said the chairman of the Senate committee which sat 36 days in public session on the dispute.

Mundt talked to reporters after announcing plans to hold a committee meeting tomorrow morning (11 a. m. EDT) to see how much of an area of agreement exists on what to put in the formal report.

The pre-meeting developments included:

1. Special Counsel Ray Jenkins announced that he is available to help write the committee report, "as long as necessary." "I'm going to see the job through," he said.

2. Jenkins said he regrets he didn't go farther in his Sunday remark that he would welcome the support of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) if Jenkins should run for the Senate in Tennessee. He said he meant to say that he also would welcome the support of Secretary of the Army Stevens. He said he'd know in two weeks whether he will run.

3. Mundt said "my guess" is the committee would turn down the demand of H. Struve Hensel, assistant secretary of defense, that it dismiss charges made against him by McCarthy in the hearings, "with a severe rebuke to Sen. McCarthy."

Actress Jailed Following Crash

MARIE MACDONALD

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., June 21 (AP)—Actress Marie (The Body) MacDonald landed in jail today, booked on suspicion of driving while under the influence of narcotics, hit-run driving and operating a car without a driver's license.

Police Chief C. H. Anderson said the shapely actress, the wife of Harry Karl, wealthy shoe manufacturer, was arrested after her car crashed into two parked autos and damaged a third.

Miss MacDonald, recently reconciled after a separation from her husband, told officers the narcotics had been administered by a dentist who was treating her, Chief Anderson said.

Government Reports First Major Clash

Anti-Red Invaders
Reported Driven
From Rail Center

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, June 21 (AP)—The Guatemalan government claimed a victory tonight in what it said was the first major contact between its armed forces and the anti-Communist invaders who smashed into the country four days ago in an effort to overthrow President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman's regime.

A communique broadcast by the Guatemalan radio said "well-trained regulars armed with modern weapons" met the rebels at Gualan, east of the railway center of Zacapa, about 20 miles inside Guatemala, and quoted military authorities as saying the rebels were driven out of the town after a brief skirmish. The announcement made no mention of casualties.

The communique also said "quite a fight" developed at Puerto Barrios today when rebels renewed their efforts to take the Caribbean port. It added that the Puerto Barrios radio had gone off the air.

Rebels Claim 25 Towns

The "liberation radio" which is supporting the invaders, meanwhile announced that the rebels held possession of 25 towns in Guatemala.

The Guatemalan announcement of the clash at Gualan followed reports that a major battle was shaping up at Zacapa, 15 miles west of Gualan.

Both Zacapa and Gualan are on the main railroad linking the Capital city, Guatemala, with the chief port, Puerto Barrios.

Batchelor To Be Court-Martialed

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., June 21 (AP)—The 4th Army announced today that Cpl. Claude Batchelor, the Texas youth who first stayed with the North Korean Reds and then changed his mind, will be court-martialed.

The 23-year-old Kermit, Tex., soldier has been in Army custody here almost five months while the Army investigated whether there was enough evidence against him to support a court-martial.

Lt. Gen. I. D. White, commanding general of the 4th Army, said Batchelor will be tried by a general court-martial on charges including:

1. That he consulted with the enemy concerning a subversive organization to be established in the United States after the Korean armistice.

2. That he made speeches and wrote articles in an attempt to persuade fellow prisoners in North Korea to believe the enemy propaganda and accept Communist doctrine.

3. That he wrote letters to promote disloyalty among the civilian population.

Rarest Bird In N. America Found Near Nation's Capital

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP)—This swamps of a private bird sanctuary always has been a great spot for attracting famous visitors, from La Fayette to Haile Selassie. Now, as far as local bird watchers are concerned, it has had its most exclusive guest.

The Audubon Society of the District of Columbia proudly announced today it has been peeping at the rarest songbird in North America, a little fellow known as Bachman's warbler.

This warbler is so rare that the bird book writer, Roger Tory Peterson, gloomily observed in 1949, "I do not know of a man in America who can show me a Bachman's warbler."

Well, he knows now of a man who can. Or could, at any rate. The big event came on May 9 during the society's annual May bird count.

China Reds Report 30 U. S. Civilians Held As Captives

GENEVA, June 21 (AP)—Red China briefly raised the veil of secrecy surrounding the fate of 83 Americans held on the Chinese mainland to announce today the death of a civilian and to list some military personnel as dead or missing.

The Chinese Communists, in an exchange of information with the U.S. delegation to the Geneva conference, reported they were holding 30 American civilians in prison. Accused "spy" died in 1951.

One of 32 civilians listed by the United States as detained, W.L. Winter of Cicero, Ill., was arrested as a spy and died Feb. 27, 1951, in Kwangtung Province, the Communists said. Winter had done mission work in a Kiangsi Province leprosarium. His home address was not given. Another, the Rev. John B. Maye, a Roman Catholic missionary from Scranton, Pa., was never held and is now living in Changsha, Hunan Province, it was reported.

The information was given at the fourth meeting of U.S. and Chinese representatives here.

U. S. To Release 15 Chinese

U. Alexis Johnson, U.S. ambassador to Czechoslovakia and acting head of the U.S. delegation since the departure of Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith, advised the Chinese in turn that the United States is now prepared to permit 15 detained Chinese nationals in the United States to depart. Johnson turned over a list of their names.

At the same time, Johnson told the Communists that half of the Chinese who had been detained "no longer wish to leave the United States," an American communist said.

The Chinese Communists listed as dead three U.S. Air Force fliers—P.E. Voorhis, H. D. Weese and A. D. Hart Jr.

Bulk Of 500 Red War Prisoners Escape French

SAIGON, Indochina, June 21 (AP)—The bulk of 500 Vietnamese war prisoners held in a French Union detention camp at My Tho have broken free in an uprising staged with the help of a guerrilla attack on the guards, informed military sources said today.

About 100 were reported killed, wounded or recaptured after the action before dawn Saturday. But 400—potential reinforcements for the Communist-led rebel campaign to overrun Indochina—melted into the tropical bush and marshlands of the area 30 miles southwest of Saigon and vanished.

Some of the prisoners were Vietnamese regulars. Most of them were regional troops and guerrillas.

The military sources said several companies of guerrillas raked the compound at My Tho, near Saigon, with heavy fire. Simultaneously, the rebels inside overpowered their guards in bitter fighting, cut through the barbed wire enclosing the camp and fled.

French Union reinforcements arrived too late for the fighting, but are seeking to run down the fugitives.

My Tho, which has a population of about 5,000, is 25 miles from the China Sea on the My Tho River, one of the mouths of the Mekong. The surrounding area is flat and partly flooded.

In the Tourane area, on the sea-coast about 360 miles northeast of Saigon, French patrols carried out fruitless searches for five American airmen seized by the Vietnamese a week ago south of their base. The a week ago south of their base.

Suitcase Stolen; Contains Big Snake

HAGERSTOWN, June 21 (AP)—Someone sneaked a suitcase from a car in front of a hotel here today probably thinking it was full of suits, but what he actually sneaked was a snake. And what a snake!

Harry Albacker, a traveling entertainer, said the suitcase contained a 60 pound, 10-foot long python he uses in his act. He said he had just fed the snake and that it probably won't move until it gets hungry in a couple of days.

Its bite isn't dangerous, said Albacker. It kills by wrapping itself around its prey and squeezing.

Albacker said he would remain in Hagerstown awhile in hopes his snake turns up.

Two Of Nation's Oldest Car Firms Will Consolidate

NEW YORK, June 21 (AP)—A plan for the joining of two of the nation's oldest auto companies—Packard and Studebaker—will be announced tomorrow.

The proposal is one drafted by three New York banking concerns. It has been approved by directors of Packard and Studebaker to the extent that a news conference has been called for noon to make formal announcement. It must be approved by stockholders before it can become effective.

If approved by stockholders, the new company probably will be known as the Packard-Studebaker Corp. It would have total assets of nearly 300 million dollars, and working capital of approximately 100 million.

Packard made its first car in 1899; the century-old Studebaker Corp. built its first motor vehicle in 1902. Both have been in continuous production ever since.

Packard and Studebaker are the only remaining wholly separate corporate entities among the car makers. Already combined are Kaiser and Willys and Nash-Kelvinator and Hudson Motors.

Some industry sources say consolidation of Packard and Studebaker will be just a start toward a further joining of the so-called "independents" among the auto makers. They go so far as to picture all the smaller concerns in one organization, designed to strengthen the fight for a larger share of the car market.

Europe Economy Improves Despite Downturn In U. S.

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP)—The Commerce Department reported today that Europe's economy kept improving during the first three months of this year, despite the downturn in this country.

Business abroad has been so good, in fact, the report said, that foreign gold and dollar reserves rose by half a billion dollars in the first quarter.

The department's report on the balance of payments between the United States and the rest of the world eased a fear that has haunted this nation's allies—that if the United States caught an economic cold the results in Europe could be pneumonia.

This fear arose from the fact that war-blasted Europe has for years been almost totally dependent for its economic health upon the United States.

Europe began to show signs of economic recovery three years ago after massive injections of U.S. economic aid. But European treasuries and business houses said the whole improvement would be undone overnight if the level of economic activity in this country fell even slightly.

They feared that the result would be a sharp contraction in American demand for European products while European demand for American products could not be contracted, and that Congress, with its attention on domestic affairs, would cut foreign aid sharply.

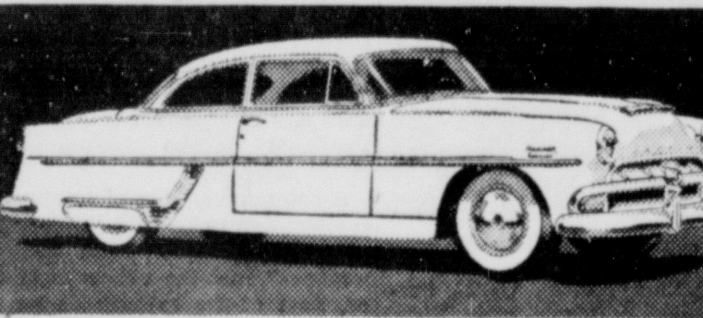

The U.S. economy has been having the sniffles since last August, a deflation from the all-time peak reached earlier in 1953.

But Europe's economy has not come down with pneumonia, as feared. It has not even caught the U.S. cold.

We've joined the new American Motors family and we're celebrating with a big...

Touring Soviets Returning To D.C.

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP)—Four touring Russians were on their way back to Washington today after a swing into the South on a 12-city motor trip.

The Soviet Embassy in Washington, from which the four departed June 10, said the group is expected back Wednesday.

The four are Mikhail N. Smirnovsky, first secretary; Ivan N. Kuzin, first secretary; Ivan P. Azarov, third secretary, and Lev D. Ilyin, listed simply as an embassy employe and presumably the chauffeur.

The traveling party was expected by the embassy to arrive today at Knoxville, Tenn. after spending the weekend in Chattanooga.

The Oak Ridge atomic energy plant lies between those two points and undoubtedly the junketing Russians became the object of some sensitive scrutiny on that leg of the trip. The Federal Bureau of Investigation was asked whether the Russians were under surveillance. A spokesman replied, "No comment."

Forces Of Byrd, Mahoney Slug It Out On Television

BALTIMORE, June 21 (AP)—The forces of Dr. H. C. Byrd and George P. Mahoney slugged it out verbally again on television tonight as they launched their last-week drive for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Hugo R. Hoffman, Mahoney's campaign manager, questioned the propriety of a second real estate deal involving the University of Maryland and Byrd when he was an official of the University.

E. Brooke Lee, Byrd's campaign headquarters director, followed with prepared remarks saying the

Odds Are 2½ To 1 In Byrd's Favor

BALTIMORE, June 21 (AP)—Gamblers say the odds have dropped slightly but Dr. H. C. Byrd continues out front of George P. Mahoney in the wagering on who'll win the Democratic nomination for governor June 28.

Bookmakers said the odds were 3 to 1 for Byrd a week ago, slipping during the week to 2½ to 1.

On the general election, the Baltimore Sun said, the odds are 6 to 5 and you take your choice between Byrd and Republican Gov. McKeldin. McKeldin is a 2½ to 1 favorite if Mahoney wins the nomination.

Mahoney camp was so desperate it would resort "to every political technique of gutter fighting."

Lee pictured Mahoney as a rough-and-tumble business man in paving contract circles, a millionaire who accepted the chairmanship of the Maryland Racing Commission because it gave him publicity and "made him more socially prominent," and a "phony" campaigner who "behaved in his usually deceitful manner" when he promised to sign a veterans bonus bill.

The Byrd campaign leader raised the subject of Mahoney's civilian status during wartime, saying he "just took no notice of either" World War.

Hoffman appeared on a televised question-and-answer program last night.

The Byrd program followed on the same station, 9:30 p.m. made a personal profit a universal ty real estate transaction, Hoffman appeared on tonight's show with Francis B. Burch, Baltimore attorney. Burch said he investigated the land deals.

Burch said land records showed that a private real estate firm headed by Byrd bought 211 acres of land near College Park, Md., home of the university, for $85,000 in 1927. Five years later Byrd, having acquired part of the land as an individual, sold about 53½ acres to the university athletic board, of which he was president, for $26,500, Burch added.

"At the bottom of the depression," summoned up Hoffman, "almost $400 an acre for land surrounded on three sides by identical land which five years later, in a rising real estate market brought less than half as much."

Except for a small corner apparently used for "pig pens" by the College of Agriculture, said Burch, the land has remained idle for 22 years.

After last week's real estate discussion by Hoffman and Burch, Byrd denied making any personal gain on an earlier university transaction. Later he said the university's Board of Regents had voted, and the State Board of Public Works approved, a $7,500 bonus for extra work and financial risks he assumed in the deal. Byrd, who was then assistant to the university president, later became president, a post he resigned last January to devote full time to the campaign.

Army spokesmen said the bomb, standard Air Force equipment used for night aerial photography, produces a flash lasting less than one second. It is visible for a radius of 25 miles and the sound of the explosion may be heard for a distance of six miles.

Prosecution Completes Case In Trial Of Sheriff Rowland

HAGERSTOWN, June 21 (AP)—Circuit Judge Joseph B. Mish today overruled a motion for a directed verdict of acquittal in the false pretense trial of Sheriff Edward L. Rowland after the State completed its case.

The defense then called all five members of the Board of County Commissioners and two former sheriffs to testify. Attorney Francis H. Urner said Sheriff Rowland would take the witness stand tomorrow morning.

Rowland is accused of buying $250 worth of butter, bacon, hams and imported Swiss cheese and billing the county for "bologna." He also is charged with conspiracy and misfeasance in office.

Urner, in his opening statement, indicated the defense would be based on a contention that the county commissioners have no control over the diet of the sheriff or what he feeds jail prisoners. Urner said the sheriff used the food and was entitled to use it since there is no law to the contrary.

Commissioners E. Leister Mobley, Chester Delphoy, Clarence Eldridge, Joseph M. Hoffman and George Fockler each testified that if Rowland had turned in bills listing the special foods, they would have been approved. Delphoy said the sheriff had a right to eat in the jail and that he sees no reason why he shouldn't have what he wanted.

Former sheriffs John B. Huyett and Joseph D. Baker testified they had bought food for their own use. But they said they had billed the county for what they bought. "If it was chicken," said Huyett, "I billed them for chicken."

The first witness for the prosecution, food wholesaler Paul E. Lizer, said the sheriff had bought about two pounds of butter and three pounds of bacon a week and country-cured hams every couple of weeks. He said the sheriff had asked him to make the bills read "bologna."

Lizer said the sheriff wanted the food delivered to his home because he didn't want the trustees in the jail kitchen to know.

The wholesaler, indicted on a charge of conspiracy, said he had been given immunity from prosecution for testifying for the state.

Sleep is one factor relating to health that you can—and do—control if you're sensible.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Do you wake up in the morning to "get up and go"? Or is it an effort to marshal your thoughts to begin the day's activities?

If you've had a late night or worked extra hard during the days preceding, you've reason for a lagging, early-morning low. But if tiredness is a day-in, day-out feeling, perhaps your general health isn't up to par.

You can buy many beauty aids in bottles — makeup, shampoo, perfume; but you can't purchase charm, and you can't purchase good health. Both are free, though they demand your careful attention to their "upkeep."

Ounce of Prevention
From childhood, you've heard the saying that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." You've been told to see your dentist twice a year, and to have an annual physical check-up. Do you?

We have modern drugs and medical techniques to thank for the fact that our longevity is increasing, that the health of the American people is constantly improving. Yet the individual is more than a statistic on a chart reading "Health Record, U. S. A." You're a living, breathing being and it's your responsibility to keep your own health record high.

That starts with things like correct diet and correct weight. If you are decidedly overweight or underweight, you are more prone to certain illnesses than is balanced with height and bone structure. (If you are in doubt as to your "correctness" in this respect, you'll find my little folder, "Your Ideal Weight," a helpful guide.)

Eating sensibly is a definite health asset. A recent survey among teenagers showed an alarming lack of balance in the typical teenage diet, though the growing years are those when one should be most careful to observe proper eating habits for the sake of clear skin, sound teeth and strong muscles. A proper diet, of course, is important to the 60-plus group and to the in-betweeners, as well as to the young.

Sleep Is Essential
Adequate rest is another ounce of prevention that counts toward good health. Some people thrive on a minimum of sleep, others require even more than the usual allotment. Whatever your requirement, don't go too many nights beneath your quota. A drowsy outlook on life robs you of much of its enjoyment; physical tiredness, too, makes it easier for a pesky virus or cold bug to catch up with you.

There's a great deal of good sense in good health, just remember that! But if you feel low despite your best efforts, don't dismiss the feeling with an "I won't

Zorick Reports On Campaign Expenses

Stanley E. Zorick, unsuccessful candidate for City Council in the June 1 primary election, spent $191.92 and received 50 contributions totaling $111.51, according to his statement filed yesterday in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

This is the fourth statement to be recorded. There were 19 primary election candidates.

Among Zorick's largest contributions were $20 each from Mrs. J. F. Decker and J. Burke, $10 from G. Semion and $5 each from A. Lewis, R. Beard and Mrs. A. Zorick. The other 44 contributions, aggregating $46.51, ranged from 25 cents to $2. To make up the difference Zorick spent $80.41 of his own money.

His expenses included $25 filing fee, $92.82 for gummed stickers, circulars, cards and engravings, $26.40 for newspaper advertising and $47.70 for radio advertising.

Summer Jobs, Salary Hike Approved By City Council

The Mayor and Council approved several Recreation Department summer job appointments and a salary increase yesterday.

The salary of John R. Wilson, clerk in the Street Department, was increased from $250.80 to $262.80. It was explained when the position was created September 1, 1951, Wilson did not get the "cost of living" bonus of $12 which had been approved for other employees. Meanwhile, his responsibilities in the job have increased.

Recreation appointments in accordance with Recreation Board recommendations, include: Maurice A. Darr, Pine Avenue pool lifeguard, $120 a month; Gerald W. Landis, ballfield leader, $80 a month, replacing George H. Wolfe; Maynard O. Kline, laborer, $1 an hour; Joan M. Snyder, cashier at Constitution Park pool, $85.80 a month; Lawrence W. Becker, $130 a month; and Carol J. Conrad, $90 a month, replacing Charles Calhoun and Alice M. Fitzwater, respectively. Becker and Miss Conrad also receive $20 for a week's training institute.

The order changes the status of John Kelly from playground leader to playground director at a salary of $110 a month.

Three bids were accepted yesterday. They include: Tri-State Mine and Mill Supply Company, $2,618 for one skid mounted air compressor for the Street Department; St. George Motor Company, $1,144.16 for a three-quarter ton pickup truck for the Street Department; and John C. Louis Company Inc., $3,706.60 for a tandem roller and trailer for the same department.

Maggie T. Grove, 225 Federal Street, said she felt the city responsible for injuries suffered when she fell on loose bricks in the pavement in front of Reinhart's Store, Virginia Avenue.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finat told council he had the woman to put her complaint in writing but told her he did not feel the city liable. He repeated he felt there is no city responsibility during yesterday morning's session when her letter was read.

City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum reported the spot was inspected within an hour after the accident, and the owner notified by letter it would be necessary for him to make repairs to the pavement. The woman said she suffered injuries to her head and eye.

Road Oil Bids Vote Deferred

The Mayor and Council yesterday deferred until next week a decision on bids for road oil when one of the applicants raised a question over specifications and awarding the contract to the highest bidder.

James Garland, of the Garland Petroleum Company, posed the question when an order awarding the issue to Chaney Transportation Company was introduced.

Commissioner William V. Keegan asked Commissioner Lucile Roeder if that was the lowest bidder.

Garland had bid .1067 cents a gallon and Chaney .1075 cents in truck load or trailer lots.

Mrs. William Buzzard, representing Centre Street Playground Association, asked for police protection against cars parking in front of the property, and speeding around the playground. She said four children were hurt last year and she did not want the same to happen again at the playground which opened yesterday.

Commissioner John J. Long had a red line placed in front of the school last year, Mrs. Buzzard said, but cars ignored it. Drivers also sped through alleys on both sides of the playground. Because of parked cars, children are not able to see if traffic is clear before crossing the street.

Commissioner William V. Keegan suggested the area be fenced to force children to go to corners before crossing the street. Mrs. Buzzard replied that would be no solution because children could not get a clear view of traffic anyway.

The matter was referred to the Police Department.

A letter from Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn to the Civil Service Board was read in which it was revealed James H. Snyder has resigned from the force. Long made a motion which was approved that the resignation be accepted with regret.

A Board of Election Supervisors report on official returns in the recent general election was ordered filed.

The Civitan Club, sponsoring the Upper Potomac Valley Kennel Club show at Fairgo September 11, asked council to take an ad in its program. This was referred to Keegan. Proceeds will go toward surgical help to prevent deafness for underprivileged children suffering adenoid and tonsil trouble in cooperation with the Allegany County Health Department.

Gives Invocation

Rev. Randolph Keefe, pastor of Grace Baptist Church, gave the invocation at yesterday's session of the Mayor and Council.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, June 21 (INS) — The story of Colonel Billy Mitchell, whose report to the government asking for a better Air Force led to his court martial, is being written by a well known local writer.

The colonel foretold that the Japanese would attack Pearl Harbor and begged that the Air Force be kept separate from the Army and Navy.

Backing this motion picture project is Arthur Godfrey, Frank Parker and Roy Speckler. The picture, however, cannot be made until Mrs. Mitchell, who lives in Virginia, okays the script. Jimmy Stewart has expressed a desire to do the picture, but there will be no casting until the script is approved.

"There's not one word of truth in the report that I have sold 'Heaven Knows Mr. Allison' to 20th Century for Clark Gable," said Charlie Feldman. "I suppose because I'm doing 'The Seven Year Itch' at that studio with Marilyn Monroe this rumor started. Matter of fact Eugene and I have already discussed with Gary Cooper the possibility of his playing the lead in 'Heaven Knows Mr. Allison' and we hope to get him."

So let me say again that Clark's first will be "Soldiers of Fortune" with Grace Kelly.

Somebody told Clark that of all the men in Grace's life she had liked him the best. Clark's reply was, "I don't believe it. I'm twice as old as she is."

The Germans have made a film called "That Was Our Rommel." Frau Lucia Rommel, widow of the German general, attended the premiere in Cairo after the Egyptian government consented to her visit and to having the premiere held there.

A London newspaper says that "That Was Our Rommel" is the German's answer to "The Desert Fox," James Mason's film about Rommel. According to the Germans, the 20th Century-Fox version starring Mason did not tell the real story.

Well, the real story is that the Desert Fox (General Rommel) was defeated — and badly.

Dan O'Herlihy's "Robinson Crusoe" is a one man show. The entire picture was made in Mexico and took six months. Dan tells me much of the picture was shot without sound because he went into such a deep jungle it was impossible to take sound tracks. Later, the voices were dubbed in. O'Herlihy is completely alone on the screen for 60 of the film's 90 minutes.

Daniel Defoe's classic hasn't been changed, only it's better than any of its film predecessors. It shows Robinson Crusoe alone as a young man with only his dog for a companion. His man Friday doesn't enter until the end.

Just before Gregory Peck took off for the High Sierras and June Lake with his two oldest sons, he stopped by my house to see me. He said he and the kids were taking frying pans, food and all sorts of camping paraphernalia.

Said Greg, "The two boys want to camp and live outdoors, but I'm told it's pretty cold, so we will probably live in a cabin. The little boys, age nine and seven, can hardly wait to rough it."

Greg leaves in about two weeks, but he'll return after he finishes "Boby Dick" for John Huston.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

The Eddie Mannixes are building a new home on a plot of ground that was formerly a part of the old fabulous Doheny estate.

All the spare time that Dale Robertson has is spent on Mary Murphy's set at Paramount. They say it's love.

Took four hours to sew Leslie Caron into the costume she wears for her big scene in "Glass Slipper." It's some costume!

To a reporter who asked 20-year-old Melinda Markey about her romances, she said, "I was hoping you wouldn't ask that because I feel as though I've been left behind — so many of my close friends are married." Don't worry, Melinda, you have plenty of time.

Jose Ferrer, who did everything in his power to dissuade Rosemary Clooney from learning to drive a car, nearly had a stroke when she showed up at MGM at the wheel of a car. Later he relented and let her drive him home.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Water Levels Hold Steady Following Removal Of Ban

Water consumption last week passed the 13 million gallons daily mark but the first weekend after removal of bans on non-essential use of the supply failed to put any appreciable "dent" into the water levels at either of the two lakes.

A report submitted to the Mayor and Council yesterday by C. L. Brotemarkle, assistant superintendent of Evitts Creek Water Company, shows Lake Koon a half inch over the crest of the spillway, and Lake Gordon five inches below.

Daily average use was 13,205,000 gallons. For the week 92,440,000 gallons were used compared to 93,520,000 the same period a year ago.

Parking meter collections increased $34.58 for the week June 6-13, Harry Whitsner, Inspector, reported.

No Smoke Violations

The Smoke Abatement report for April submitted by Deputy Inspector Charles F. Owens showed no cautions or violations to railroads or stationary power plants but added two complaints were registered in other matters.

Council approved payment of $1,000 to Attorney William Gunter Jr., attorney for Lewis Tyree, in satisfaction of a recent Circuit Court decision growing from damages sustained by Tyree when a water main burst at Baltimore and Decatur Streets last fall. Council also approved payment of $33.35 costs to the circuit clerk.

Council met with Irvin Engle and Earl Seifarth of Engles Market, corner of Baltimore and Decatur, and it was indicated a settlement had been reached on damages caused at the store during the same main break. An order will probably be forthcoming next week.

A check for $326.31 was authorized paid to the J. E. Greiner Company, Baltimore, as seventh partial payment for engineering services on the Valley Street Bridge.

To Accept Bridge Plan

Mayor Roy W. Eves was authorized to accept revised preliminary plans submitted by Greiner on the Baltimore Street bridge. Changes in the work contract by the Corps of Army Engineers forced the change from a double lane to a single lane bridge. Cost, the firm said, is $230,000 including 15 percent for engineering and contingencies.

Referred to Commissioner John J. Long was the application of Elwood A. Swanger, 608 Virginia Avenue, to operate a used car, clocks, clothing, electrical appliances and furniture business at 604 Virginia Avenue.

Donald B. Cox, 206 Pennsylvania Avenue, noting damage to lawns during the Soap Box Derby, suggested that fences be placed to protect properties along the route of the races this year. His letter was referred to the Police Department.

David E. Kirk, representing Allegany-Garrett Firemen's Association, asked council for a letter of endorsement in the organization's efforts to obtain next year's state convention for Cumberland. Council agreed to send the letter by Kirk to this year's convention on

University Post Given Miss Reitz

Miss Joanne Reitz, who has been Allegany County home demonstration agent since last September, will leave here for her new position as home management specialist of the University of Maryland Extension Service on July 15.

She is a native of Indiana, Pa., and a graduate of California (Pa.) High. She received her B.S. degree at California State Teachers College and studied at West Virginia University. She received a degree in home economics and obtained her master's degree at Penn State University.

Miss Reitz taught in Waynesboro, Pa., and Pittsburgh high schools for five years. During a survey of farms kitchens in Pennsylvania she became interested in extension service work and that led her to take the position here as home demonstration agent.

ending Wednesday in Ocean City. A proclamation naming June 30 as "Cumberland Day" at the Fairgo races meet was approved.

Dick Suspends Pair's Sentences

Suspended sentences of six months in the Maryland House of Correction were meted out yesterday by Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick to two defendants involved in a fracas early Sunday at the Benjamin Banneker Homes on Frederick Street.

Thomas Beckwith, 33, who resides at the housing project, also drew a suspended 30-day jail term on drunk and disorderly conduct charges.

His alleged assailant, Ray Taylor, 22, of 331 Frederick Street, was accused of cutting him with a beer bottle. Charged with assault, the pair was placed on probation for a year.

Following the melee, Beckwith was treated at Sacred Heart Hospital for superficial cuts of the neck, ear, face and forearms.

A witness, Edward Rhodes, about 22, told police he attempted to break up the disturbance. Beckwith was found on the street, bleeding profusely.

Investigators said the trouble started when Beckwith apparently tried to open the wrong apartment door with a key.

A broken bottle in the small hallway evidently caused Beckwith's wounds as he and Taylor scuffled on the floor.

Both men were questioned in the State's Attorney's office. County Investigator Edwin R. Lilly and Detective Charles E. Cubbage prosecuted the case in Trial Magistrate's Court.

City Departments To Close July 5

City departments will observe July 5 as a holiday in observance of Independence Day, the Mayor and council ordered yesterday.

The regular council meeting will be held Tuesday, July 6, at 10 a.m. The newly-elected council will take office immediately following a short session of the present body.

In the past two years, "inauguration" ceremonies have been held in the auditorium after the old council adjourned sine die. It is expected a similar program will be held in two weeks.

City Asks Bids For Purchase Of Homes

Bids are being asked by the city for purchase and removal of two houses at 211-213 Water Street, sites of which are needed for the West Side flood wall stage of the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control project.

The Mayor and Council yesterday authorized City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum to ask bids which will be due in two weeks.

Nuzum reported that the houses must be removed or torn down since the contractor has begun work and they are in the path of the flood easement.

Estimates have been received on moving the homes and options taken on two lots on Avirett Avenue. Estimated cost of moving and the lots is $10,000, it was said.

Salvage or removal of the homes set off an exchange among City Attorney Thomas B. Finan, Mayor Roy W. Eves and James Alfred Avirett, chairman of the Municipal Planning Commission.

Represent $25,000

The exchange came about this way: City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson asked what value the house would have after moving and Finan replied the city would have $25,000 in them ($15,000 purchase price plus the $10,000 estimate for removal). The question, however, Finan said, is whether any one would want them.

Commissioner Lucile Roeder also noted the site the homes would be moved to are in line with the proposed crosstown bridge or expressway and would have to be destroyed or moved again.

Commissioner William V. Keegan said he wanted the houses moved and kept on the tax books.

Here the question of salvage came up again. Finan said he agreed with Keegan under normal conditions, but that the houses had to be taken off the flood easement right of way and Nuzum added the contractor will need the entire area by July 1.

Commends Keegan Stand

Avirett, commending Keegan's stand, said the commission has "watched these two homes and they can be moved and kept on the tax books."

"If the crosstown bridge is built," he continued, "the state must buy the properties," but, he added, he did not believe the bridge will be constructed and the people "do not want the bridge."

Avirett said value of the homes will increase if moved and the city is trying to build up its tax base income, not reduce it. The Planning Commission urges moving the houses, Avirett stated.

Gibson pointed out the houses are off the tax books since purchase by the city but if sold would be returned.

Can't Guarantee Full Return

Finan stated it is a question whether the city can get $5,000 each for the dwellings and took issue with Avirett because the city cannot guarantee to get its investment back. "If we don't there will be a lot of people sitting around waiting to jump on us," the city attorney said.

Mayor Eves flatly declared: "I don't like the city going into the real estate, contracting or building business. Until the city succeeds in selling these houses, they are off the tax list. Why not leave it to free enterprise?

"If anything is to be gained some contractor or real estate man will grab the houses. We should advertise them to be removed by demolition or by moving to another place," the Mayor said.

Avirett suggested asking bids from people after the city moves the houses, but Finan retorted "there isn't a man alive who can tell you the conditions of a house after it is moved."

He said should the city agree to move the houses and keep them in the same shape, damages in the process may leave the city "in the soup." The city would have to spend more to put the houses in condition, he added.

Council unanimously approved to advertise the homes for purchase or removal.

Russia May Beat U. S. But It's Only Chess

Russian chess team is playing an eight-man U. S. team four matches in New York. It was to have come last year but ran first into visa trouble and later was called home en route when Washington decreed that the players might not leave the metropolis to visit Russian officials on Long Island.

The Russians attempted to make sneering propaganda about this at the time, but now they have refused without explanation to let world champion Botvinnik come along with the team.

That may not make much difference in the result. Smyslov, who will play Board 1 in place of Botvinnik, recently held the champion to a 12-12 standoff in a 24-game challenge match. A few years ago another member of the team, Bronstein, was actually leading Botvinnik, 12-11, with one game to play, and might have become champion by seeking a cautious draw. Actually he played for a win, and lost. It appears that the Russian team has two players who may be as good as Botvinnik.

That's not too surprising. Chess was a genuinely popular game in Russia before the bolsheviks took over, and still is. Cheering crowds attend matches there, and nearly everybody plays the game.

The American team is the underdog. It lost two previous matches with the Russians, one played by radio and one in Moscow. A four-man American team also trailed Russia in international matches this year. But the home team is headed by Samuel Reshevsky, who is about on a par with the top Russians, and includes four up-and-coming youngsters, a valuable asset in a game where youth counts more than non-players would imagine.

The unknown ancient Asiatic who invented chess is said to have tried to make it a moral equivalent of war — or, in modern terminology, a sublimation of man's aggressive impulses. Perhaps Russia's present rulers do not play enough chess. Here's to Reshevsky — may his team knock 'em dead.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Informer

The McCarthy-Stevens hearings raised the issue of the role of the informer in the American government. If the Congress wishes that there should be no informers inside the administration, it should not have appointed any committee to investigate the administration. After all, the only way to investigate is to find leads to corruption, graft, subversion or espionage. A congressional committee cannot know where to look unless somehow it is brought to the committee's attention that something has gone wrong. Someone must tell.

Congress has two functions in this connection: first, it must investigate all government departments not only to obtain data for future legislation but also to determine what appropriations are to be allotted to the various departments; secondly, it acts as a watch-dog agency to see how the laws Congress passes are enforced.

Army Counsel Joseph Welch seemed at no time to understand why the congressional investigative committee exists. Perhaps he did not want to know. Perhaps he admitted, even to himself, that such committees exist to investigate, he could not have tried his case. It was startling to listen to weeks of this hearing and to note how little a distinguished Boston lawyer knows about the workings of Congress.

When he made his "sick-em Stevens" appeal and various others that as soon as anyone knew of a subversive in the Army, he should go to the Pentagon and shout, "I know of a subversive," he could not have grasped that the business of a congressional investigative committee was not to go to the Pentagon but to start an investigation. And the essence of such an investigation would have to be to discover why the officials charged with the responsibility did not act themselves.

I could not understand, during the weeks that this subject was moving back and forth, why this fact was not brought out clearly. To repeat, a congressional committee is not itself an informer. It exists to obtain information. Mr. Welch and particularly his counsel Mr. St. Clair acted as though a congressional committee did not exist under the law.

As the Communist conspiracy developed in the United States after 1934 when the Harold Ware Cell was organized to infiltrate the Government of the United States, anti-Communists became active, observing, scrutinizing and evaluating the work of the Communists in government. Many of these voluntary efforts were fruitless. Some were ridiculous to the point of accepting every rumor as a fact; some took on a vigilante characteristic. Some such voluntary activities were of the greatest value.

Out of it, as the years passed, men and women appeared inside our government who came to be known as the "Pro-American Underground." There is no organization by that name; there are no groups that meet in secret. There is no conspiracy. But that such men and women exist is clear from the fact that Whittaker Chambers found his way to A. A. Berle Jr. when Berle was in the State Department to tell him about Alger Hiss nearly 10 years before Hiss was tried; somebody knocked on Representative Karl Mundt's door to tell him about Alger Hiss; somebody tipped Bert Andrews who took Representative Richard Nixon to the Maryland farm where he found "The Pumpkin Papers."

Someone tipped Senator Joe McCarthy about the Fort Monmouth situation. A number of men in the Voice of America tipped David Schine of Communist activity in that organization. Somebody is always calling attention to high crimes and misdemeanors in government.

It is not surprising that this should be so, nor does it point to a disgruntled government employee. There are persons in every branch of government who use private judgment when the believe that the country is being harmed and that officials have a way of covering up a bad situation. We are a free people and no one loses his citizenship by taking a government job.

The question rightfully arises whether such a person should not first go to the Department of Justice. Perhaps he should. But many do not trust the Department of Justice, while many do. Those who do not, prefer to go with their information to a chairman of a congressional committee.

But this is certain: As long as there is corruption or infiltration, an agency must exist to investigate. Perhaps it is to the advantage of the country that several agencies should exist.

Oppenheimer Seen As Loyal Man With Odd Standards

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON, June 21 — Was Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer an unconscious instrument of Soviet policy or an actual espionage agent or a loyal but misguided scientist?

These questions, which were raised concretely in a letter from William Liscum Borden to J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, on November 7, 1953, started the re-examination of all records and files by the Atomic Energy Commission in order to determine if the noted scientist could be given clearance or should be denied it as a "security risk."

From January 1949, until June 1, 1953, Mr. Borden, now an assistant to the manager of the Westinghouse Company's Atomic Power Division, was the executive director of the joint congressional committee on Atomic Energy. A man with a brilliant war service as an Army pilot and a fine record as a law school graduate, Mr. Borden had the complete confidence of the late Senator McMahon, Democrat, of Connecticut, who was chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy.

The Probabilities
After many years of reading of the classified information and evidence to which he had had access while in the Government, Mr. Borden endeavor to assess the degree of likelihood as to "whether he (Oppenheimer) became an actual espionage and policy instrument of the Soviets." Mr. Borden's conclusion was this: "My opinion is that, more probably than not, the worst is in fact the truth."

Since that letter was written a special board headed by Dr. Gordon Gray, now president of the University of North Carolina and formerly Secretary of the Army in the Truman Administration, has ruled unanimously on their findings of fact, but by a 2 to 1 vote has denied Dr. Oppenheimer security clearance too. The dissenting member, Dr. Ward V. Evans, a chemistry professor, thought that Dr. Oppenheimer had learned a great deal since his earlier indiscretions and wouldn't make the same mistakes again and should be given clearance. Now it is up to the Atomic Energy Commission of five members to review the recommendations of the special board. Judging by the sentiment in Congress, if the Atomic Energy Commission does grant security clearance, the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy will hold extensive hearings which so far as drama and public interest are concerned could conceivably overshadow the recent McCarthy hearings.

This correspondent has just finished an examination of the 992 printed pages of the official transcript — approximately 400,000 words — of the testimony before the special board which heard all the evidence from the witnesses on both sides. This writer's conclusion is that the most charitable interpretation which can be placed on the strange and complicated behavior of Dr. Oppenheimer as revealed in the evidence is that he was never intentionally disloyal but that his actions, as disclosed in the official record, permit the inference by the board that he might unwittingly become involved in disloyalty because of his peculiar standards of judgment when there is a conflict between loyalty to a friend and loyalty to his own Government. The special board's verdict was that Dr. Oppenheimer was and is loyal but constitutes a "security risk" under existing regulations.

Thus Dr. Oppenheimer admits now that he lied to a security officer of the United States Army in August and September 1943, and also refused to give him information about an attempt at espionage in this country by the Russian Government because he didn't think the plot had succeeded, and because it involved a close friend whom he wanted to protect. Dr. Oppenheimer failed to report the facts promptly to his government, and even five months later did not tell the whole story, despite the urgent pleas of the security officer of the Army. The scientist two months later, under pressure, finally disclosed what he knew to General Groves, head of the atomic bomb project. Then Dr. Oppenheimer confessed that what he previously had told the security officer was a lie. Lawyers say this constitutes a felony under federal law. Dr. Oppenheimer claims now he was an "idiot" to do what he did,

Baering Down on The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Now that the children are on vacation let's stop spelling out things. Was the Army-McCarthy gimmickry good for the welfare of the nation or was it a symphony in querulousness?

Seems to us it started out as a legitimate investigation of infiltration. And wound up with an undecipherable formula for Red ants at salt-free picnics.

At no time did we thoroughly understand the agenda of the two-day Video-ville. It opened with an orchestration for urgent impartiality and then a glass-eater broke ampules of concentrated kibitzing.

There was a bit of soft-shoe dancing on other people's territory. And some quick Protean character work by the Owen McGivney of the land-locked Senate.

The flag-waving was a repetitious fluttering of red, white and blue coat-tails. It was then we realized it was possible to get a sunstroke from flashlights.

These birds were chain smokers on points of order. They lit one interruption off another.

The oratorical acrobats were sensational with a neat bit of ventriloquial radar from the White House. The eight guys in the background were the boarders who drank elderberry wine in arsenic and old lace. Their proxies are on the court martial board in Caine Mutiny.

Strep Throat Victims Recover More Rapidly In Bed

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Old fashioned strep throat returned to many communities during the past few months. Symptoms developed quickly and reached their peak within a few hours. This is typical of the streptococcus; the organism wastes no time in making its presence known.

These germs are bad actors because they never know when to stop. In some instances sore throat is followed by sinus or ear infection. Now and then the complication appears in the form of rheumatic fever or Bright's disease. The wonder drugs have proved our best defense against the spread of streptococci. Authorities have expressed the opinion that the value of penicillin in the treatment of sore throat is negligible compared with its ability to prevent complications such as rheumatic fever.

Sore throat usually is preceded by chills, fever, headache, and malaise. Many victims spend the first 24 hours trembling and shivering; they are so cold that a dozen blankets and hot water bottles fail to bring relief. Throat distress may reach its peak within an hour. Pain is aggravated by swallowing and talking is a chore. The pharynx and tonsils are reddened and swollen. The discharge is yellowish in contrast to the grayish-white secretions characteristic of other types of infection. In addition, many of the neck glands become swollen and tender and a high temperature may persist for three or four days.

The physician may be able to recognize strep throat at a glance but variations are the rule and a more accurate diagnosis is made by studying the secretions under the microscope. The need for one of the sulfonamides or an antibiotic like penicillin rests on an looking convertible this town has seen in three years."

"The trouble with my wife," grumbled Howard Treger, "is that she can sure dish it out—but she can't cook it."

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

George M. Cohan was quite a practical joker in his day. The late Joe Laurie recalled the time Cohan and Willie Collier staged a mock two-handed game of cutting cards for "a $1,000 a throw" just to impress their friend Louis Mann, who was always a very careful man with a buck. While Mann grew more and more bug-eyed, Collier ran his "profits" up to three hundred thousand dollars, not to mention Cohan's theaters, country home, and life insurance policies. Mann was about to faint when Collier gave away the joke by proposing to Cohan, "Now I'll cut you two out of three for your partner, Sam Harris."

"I had a date with a real nifty stranger last night," a young lady confided to her chum. "Where did he hail from?" asked the chum. The answer was, "From the best

Army-McCarthy Hearings Should Help Eliminate Military "Pull" In Future

By Drew Pearson

same Gen. Miles Reber who figured in McCarthy's request for a commission for Schine. As a result, young D'Alesandro was yanked out of basic training at Indian-town Gap, Pa., and given a direct commission.

Congressman Velde's Son — In February 1953, I reported that Congressman Velde, chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, was pulling wires to get his son transferred to Bolling Field after he graduated from the Air Force ROTC. Velde promptly called me a liar. However, Richard Velde later turned up at Bolling Field, a choice berth just 10 minutes from his father's office in Washington.

Senator O'Daniel's Son — When "Pass-the-Biscuits Pappy" O'Daniel of Texas was in the Senate, his son Lee flunked out at Officers' candidate school. Most privates who fail are immediately sent out into the ranks. But, thanks to an influential father, young O'Daniel got three different shots at officers' school. Finally, after flunking twice, he made it the third time, and was transferred to Fort Washington, D. C., right under his father's nose.

Parnell Thomas — One of the money-raising devices used by Congressman Parnell Thomas of New Jersey, who went to jail for taking salary kickbacks, was trying to transfer soldiers to lush posts and then collecting from their families. When Pvt. E. A. Kimmel of Long Beach, N. Y., was about to be shipped overseas during the war, Thomas tried to get the Army to make him an undercover agent for the House Committee on Un-American Activities and get him stationed in New York. The Army, skeptical, refused. But it never did send Kimmel to a combat area, and later Congressman Thomas tried to collect from Kimmel's father by selling him an insurance policy.

Thomas also tried to keep Pvt. George Tiptip of New York City out of combat areas, and incidentally collected a total of $500 for his political campaigns. More Stars For Top Brass
However, military politics is by no means confined to congressmen. Some of the worst politics has been pulled by the highest-ranking officers in the armed services.

When Douglas MacArthur was a brigadier general in the Philippines during the Harding administration he got his father-in-law, Edward T. Stotesbury of Philadelphia, a partner in the J. P. Morgan firm, to go to the War Department and tell Secretary of War John Weeks, father of Sinclair Weeks, the present secretary of commerce, that he wanted MacArthur promoted.

Stotesbury had been a heavy contributor to the Republican party. MacArthur got his promotion.

MacArthur was an aide to Secretary of War Newton Baker during part of the war and was advanced from the rank of major to brigadier general in one jump. After the war, he was the only brigadier general to keep his temporary wartime rank, but he had to do so much wire-pulling to keep it that Congress actually passed a law providing that future brigadier generals must be promoted only from the grade of colonel. The law was specifically aimed at preventing anyone else from duplicating what MacArthur did.

Navy Politics
Politics can be just as important in the Navy. Last summer this column exposed the fact that Capt. George Hyman Rickover, developer of the atomic submarine, had been passed over by a selection board of admirals and was not to be promoted, partly because of his religion. Later Secretary of the Navy Robert Anderson stepped in, overruled the admirals, and promoted Rickover.

This is the type of wire-pulling and back-scratching that sometimes takes place in the armed services — but which, if we are to have a strong army, navy and air force, should not take place at all. Imagine the effect on millions of mothers with boys in armed services when they read how Pvt. Schine escaped KP duty, got a constant flow of weekend passes, and was not even punished when he failed to turn up for guard duty.

Thailand And Poland

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

A plan to guarantee Thailand against Communist aggression is now taking shape within the Eisenhower administration. The purpose, of course, is to contain the consequences of the smashing Communist victory that now seems likely in Indo-China.

A similar idea has long been current in the British government. Hence it is certain that the project of the guarantee to Thailand will be one of the themes of the Eisenhower - Churchill-Dulles-Eden talks this week.

The chances are good that the final decision will be to offer a military guarantee to Thailand. If so, other Asian nations will certainly be asked to join in the guarantee. Whether or not the French will also be asked to do so, depends on the policy of the new premier, Pierre Mendes-France, and on developments in Indo-China.

The French attitude is important, since the American and British policy makers still hope to include the small states of Laos and Cambodia in their scheme, and thus salvage these states from the general wreck in Indo-China.

Laos is a hilly little kingdom populated by a people of Thai blood. Cambodia, to the south, does not have a predominantly Thai population, but has close links to Thailand. Cambodia's border provinces moreover, once formed a part of Thailand. These two states, where only very small Communist forces are operating as yet, lie along the Thai border.

Together, therefore, Cambodia and Laos would form a valuable buffer between Thailand and the main Indo-Chinese state of Viet Nam where the Communist rot is now so far advanced.

The idea, then, is to join Laos and Cambodia with Thailand, in a federation that would collectively undertake the common defense against Communist attack or infiltration. The whole federation would be guaranteed. This scheme of federation is now reported to be favored by the kings of Cambodia and Laos. It has long been actively advocated in Thailand.

British Attitude Clear
The British attitude, on the other hand, was made clear some years ago, in one of the earlier Indo-Chinese crises. At that time, the French authorities were enraged by the appearance of British agents in the Cambodian and Laotian Prangabang—just the sort of program that has been set forth above. In short London has always thought of a resistance line on the Laotian-Cambodian border as a possible ace-in-the-hole in the dangerous game being played in South Asia. In Geneva, accordingly, Foreign Minister Anthony Eden has firmly persisted in excluding Cambodia and Laos from the discussions of an Indo-Chinese settlement (which might better be called the discussions of an Indo-Chinese surrender).

But besides the very important question about the French attitude to the Thai-Laotian-Cambodian federation, there is another question of even greater importance. Eden's insistence on placing Cambodia and Laos in a special category have been met, at Geneva, with downright brutal counter-insistence by Molotov, Chou En-lai and the Vietminh delegation. They have never receded from the position that Cambodia and Laos must be included in any general Indo-Chinese settlement.

Communists Determined
In other words, as the stepped-up pressure on these states also indicates, the Communists seem to be determined to grab Cambodia and Laos as well as Viet Nam. How hard will they fight to get what they want? Are Britain and America willing to fight to prevent the Communist from getting what they want? And what will the new French government do in this situation?

There are no sure answers to these questions. Hence it is not as yet clear whether the Thai-Laotian-Cambodian federation project will come to anything. It could provide the occasion for drawing a line, and saying to the Communist side, "Thus far and no further." But Laos and Cambodia also could be left out, and a guarantee could be offered to Thailand alone.

The new trend of policy is decidedly encouraging, in the sense that the need to draw some sort of line in South Asia is being recognized. But in another sense, it is melancholy and depressing: for the new trend implies acceptance of species of super-Munich in Asia, after which, and only after which, the line will finally be drawn.

Viet Nam-Czechoslovakia is to be abandoned. The defense of South Asia are to be mortally weakened by the withdrawal of the French Expeditionary Corps of ten divisions and the total loss of the American-armed Vietnamese force of more than 200,000 men. And after this tremendous triumph for the Communists and appalling defeat for the West, Thailand-Poland is to be guaranteed, in order to prevent a further chain reaction of disaster.

John Landy Of Australia Breaks Mile Record In 3:58

Snap Former Mark Held By British Miler

Second Man To Hit Under Four Minutes; Sets 1,500 Meter Run

TURKU, Finland, June 21 (AP)—John Landy of Australia ran the mile in a phenomenal 3 minutes and 58 seconds today, clipping 1.4 seconds off Roger Bannister's world record and becoming the second man to crash the four-minute barrier.

The 24-year-old Melbourne flier also was timed in 3:41.8 for the 1500 meters, another world mark if approved by the International Amateur Athletic Federation. Both clockings must be recognized by the IAAF.

Landy, who has been knocking at the door of the four-minute mile for two years, was racing against five international foes, including Britain's Chris Chataway, who paced Bannister to his record 3:59.4 performance at Oxford May 6.

Track Very Fast

The combination cinder track at Turku Stadium was lightning fast and the weather was ideal. A blazing sun beat down on the track and an expectant crowd of 8,000. The temperature was 77 degrees.

Landy didn't follow his normal formula of setting the pace all the way. After a comparatively slow first quarter in which he lay back in second place, he shot to the front just before the half-mile mark and finished blazing.

The crowd, sensing a record performance, went wild. As Landy clipped off the final laps in short, lightning steps, the crowd spurred him on with the yells, "Landy, Landy, Landy."

As the lean, young Aussie shot across the finish line, wearing a broad smile and showing no signs of exhaustion, the spectators broke into a thunderous roar. Then they swarmed from the stands, broke down the fences and carried Landy from the stadium on their shoulders.

Landy, showing a tremendous finishing kick, was 35 yards ahead of Chataway as he breasted the tape. Chataway was timed in 4:04.0, followed by Finland's Olavi Vuorisalo in 4:07 and Denis Johanson, also of Finland, in 4:07.6.

"I'm too happy to be able to speak," the jubilant Aussie said. "If it hadn't been for Chris Chataway's chasing me around the track I would never have made it. I knew he was immediately behind me and that he would not hesitate to pass me if I slowed up the very least."

Never Ran Better

"I have never run on a better track than this and I would like to call the race the one hundred per cent contest."

Finnish track authorities said they felt there was no doubt Landy's clockings for both the 1500 meters and mile would be recognized as world records. Fully authorized timers were set up at both the 1500 meter mark and the mile finish line.

The lap times were announced for meter distances rather than for yards. The times were 58 seconds for the first 400 meters, 1:57.9 for 800 meters, 2:27.2 for the 1,000 and 2:56 flat for the 1,200.

FAIRGO PARI-MUTUEL MANAGER—Robert C. Littleton, Hagerstown native who has been associated with pari-mutuel department at the Cumberland Fair Association's 10-day race meetings for many years, will be the pari-mutuel manager at the local meeting which begins Wednesday at Fairgo. Littleton comes here from Thistle-down, Ohio, where he was the assistant pari-mutuel manager. He has worked at Pimlico, Hagerstown, Marlboro and Bowie race tracks and except for one year has worked at the Cumberland track in the waging department since the 1920's. He will have approximately 125 men under his supervision. Littleton replaces William "Bill" Fisher who has been manager of the pari-mutuels at the Garden State Park, N. J., this year.

W. M. PISTOL CLUB TEAM STANDINGS

Mounties	0 4
Frostburgers	0 0
Tyros	0 4

Double wins were scored by the Executives and Mounties teams in the Western Maryland Pistol Club's third and fourth league matches held yesterday afternoon on the Frostburg range.

The Executives beat the Frostburgers, 741 to 729, in the Match No. 3, 22 cal. event, and repeated in the centerfire Match No. 4, 676 to 672. Bill Whitson's 189 points topped the winners in the .22 match; Dan Rafferty's 195 set a hot pace for the defeated Frostburgers. Jake Livengood's 178 tally was best for the Executives in the .38 contest. Harry Morgan's 180 was high for the losers.

The Mounties easily whipped the Tyros, 711 to 654, in Match No. 3, and copped a second win, 686 to 560, in Match No. 4. Jim Steele's 180 markers led the victors in the .22 match. A competent 186 was put up by Mickey Heller for the Tyros. Jim Kelly and Les Cameron tied with 176 points apiece to spark the Mounties in Match No. 4. Heller was high centerfire for the losers with 178.

Avila And Snider Hold Bat Leads

Duke Takes Over From Gran Hamner

NEW YORK, June 21 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians hold a comfortable four game lead atop the American League standings today, but the edge enjoyed by their second baseman, Bobby Avila, in the batting race appears even more secure.

Except for a single appearance as a pinch-hitter and one as a defensive replacement, Avila has been inactive because of an injured hand since June 6. However, his closest competitors have done little in the way of catching up.

The 28-year-old Mexican is batting .384. That's 39 points higher than teammate Al Rosen; in second place. The latter returned to the starting lineup Sunday after a two-week layoff with a finger injury.

Nellie Fox, despite a spurt which produced 11 hits in 30 trips last week, is a poor third at .328. Frank House of Detroit dropped into the No. 4 position with a six point loss to .325. Minnie Minoso of the White Sox and Vern Stephens of Baltimore are deadlocked for fifth at .322.

In the sizzling National League scramble, Brooklyn's Duke Snider has regained the lead after relinquishing it to Philadelphia's Granny Hamner Saturday.

Snider collected three hits in eight times at bat in Sunday's twin-bill against Chicago while Hamner went one-for-nine in a double-header against Cincinnati and dropped to fourth place. Snider has a .373 mark and Hamner is at .363.

Jackie Robinson, also of the Dodgers, pulled into second place with a .365 average and Don Mueller of the New York Giants is third with .364.

Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals, six-time National League batting king, slumped 13 points to .357 and dropped into sixth place. However, he continues to lead in home runs with 22 and runs batted in, 71.

Ray Boone of Detroit slammed two home runs last week to deadlock Rosen for the American League lead. Each has 13. Minoso is the loop's pace-setter in runs batted in with 57.

Williams To Join Sox In Baltimore

BOSTON, June 21 (AP)—Boston outfielder Ted Williams had another short workout today at Fenway Park and decided to leave tonight to join his Red Sox teammates in Baltimore where they play a night game tomorrow.

Williams, admitting he still felt a little weak, is recovering from a virus infection which threatened him with pneumonia.

Mike Sorrentino, Bob Shirey Here For Fairgo Meet

Former Seeks Third Straight Win Title

Robert H. Shirey, native of Bard, Pa., near Hyndman, has recovered sufficiently from injuries sustained at Ascot Park and will ride at the 10-day meeting beginning Wednesday at Fairgo.

The 29-year-old Shirey has been riding for a good number of years and is well-known in this locale. He has ridden many times in the past during the Cumberland race meet.

Meanwhile Mike Sorrentino, Cumberland's leading jockey for the past two years, has put in his appearance and will strive to become the first reinsman in the history of the 10-day meet here to lead all jockeys in the matter of booting home the winners for three consecutive years.

Works Out Lightly

Sorrentino, who combined with Mrs. George A. "Babe" Saportas Jr., the leading trainer of the past several years at Fairgo, to win the trophies for the leading winners, has worked out lightly in preparation for Wednesday's opening day.

The little money-maker has indicated he will ride for William G. Myers who has a string of 17 horses at the Cumberland oval. Myers was a former partner of Mrs. Saportas. The latter however will not visit Cumberland's track this season. She is at Thistle-down, Ohio, about 12 miles from Cleveland, where she is training horses for R. Roy McClarin.

Mrs. Saportas captured the leading trainer honors at Fairgo six times in the past seven years.

Other events briefly noted at Fairgo:

Arthur "French" Monteiro checked in yesterday from Delaware Park. Monteiro is from Boston, Mass., and will ride in 100 pounds and free-lance his services. This will be his first appearance in Cumberland.

Trainer George Harris of Charles Town, is here with five head for Dr. Sol Ross of Sweetsboro, N. J. Harris is accompanied by apprentice Bruce Beal, 19, of Baltimore.

Patsy Grant arrived from Waterford Park and is galloping horses while awaiting the start of the Cumberland track campaign.

410 Horses Here

With opening day a little over 24 hours away Racing Secretary J. Fred Colwill reports there are 410 horses stabled at the Cumberland track. Latest to bed down at the local half-mile course include trainers Carl Utz, O. R. Derchler and William E. Stevens.

Susan Lee C., 4-year-old chestnut daughter of Bernborough, and winner of the Fort Mitchell County Club Purse at River Downs, tops a consignment quartered at Fairgo by Norman L. Brown.

Brown returns to Cumberland after an absence of three years. The Bernborough filly won her last three starts, having scored victories at Ascot Park prior to her River Downs engagement.

Others in the Brown barn are Dr. Wright, Speedy Dust, and the recent winners Inspite, two at Ascot, and Little Money, two at Ascot.

C. D. Lee of Leesburg, Va., shipped in from North Randall with Kingposse, a sprint winner at Thistle Down, Ohio, and Quatre-Bud, a 2-year-old speed merchant, by Quatre-Bras II. Quatre-Bud finished third at Pimlico for $10,000.

Three thoroughbreds now at Fairgo have a sire in common. The stud, Top Money, is represented by Becky's Shirt, winner of the Maryland Futurity at Laurel in 1952. Top Money, and Carolyn P., who will make her debut here.

Seeded Players Score 1st Round Wimbledon Wins

Trabert, Rosewall, Seixas Are Victors

WIMBLEDON, England, June 21 (AP)—The Wimbledon Tennis Championships got off to a fast start today with seeded sluggers from America and Australia blasting everything in sight.

Of all the top rankers only little, unhappy looking Ken Rosewall of Australia had big trouble. The soulful 19-year-old who is seeded third defeated Abe Segal of South Africa 7-5, 4-6, 8-6, after a grim struggle.

America's picture book tennis star—No. 1 seeded Tony Trabert of Cincinnati—whipped Britain's Paul Woollier 6-0, 6-2, 6-2. Handsome Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, the defending champion, had an even easier time defeating Geoffrey Cass, Britain 6-1, 6-0, 6-1.

The charmed spell which Wimbledon seems to have regarding the weather failed to hold and rain actually fell, although not much of it.

The rain however, didn't cool Australia's Lew Hoad, No. 2 seed; Mervyn Rose, of Australia, No. 5; Art Larsen, San Leandro, Calif., No. 6; Budget Patty, seventh seeded, or Rex Hartwig of Australia, seeded No. 8.

Bedford-Fulton Health Society Reports On TB Seal Campaign

X-ray Program Gains Momentum In 1953

BEDFORD — The Bedford-Fulton Tuberculosis and Health Society has released its annual report for the fiscal year April, 1953, through March 31, 1954. The report gives information on the activities and finances of the organization.

The activities reported include Health Education, Case-Finding, Rehabilitation, and Christmas Seal Sale; dissemination of information through newspapers, pamphlets, films, and public addresses. The annual health poster contest is conducted in the seventh and eighth grades. A total of 204 posters were entered in the contest.

A total of 2741 persons were X-rayed, and 5736 school children had tuberculin tests. The number X-rayed represents a substantial increase over previous years. Of those X-rayed, 57 persons were considered to have conditions considered to be suspicious of tuberculosis and 61 to have other abnormal conditions of the chest area.

The 1953 Christmas Seal Sale showed an increase of six percent over that of the previous year. The amount contributed was $7602.29. Of this, $1157.46 was sent to the Pennsylvania Tuberculosis and Health Society for services of that organization and of the National Tuberculosis Association. Much of this contribution will be used for research purposes. The remaining $6444.83 is the amount available for the local program.

During the past fiscal year, with $6083.80 available from the 1952 Christmas Seal Sale, a total of $6905.63 was spent on the local program. The great increase in the number of X-rays is responsible for the operating deficit. Members of the Board of Directors are anxious that there be no curtailment of the X-ray program, and the organization is seeking to find ways to continue the case-finding program which has been so productive during the past several years.

The only source of income is the annual Christmas Seal Sale, and the president, Fred S. Samuel, expresses sincere appreciation for the exceptionally fine response to the 1953 appeal.

Tucker, Preston Counties Figure In Rural Study

Tucker and Preston counties are among 10 West Virginia counties in the Upper Monongahela Valley in which a study is being made to collect factual information on current economic conditions affecting farm and rural non-farm people.

It will include an analysis of the occupational backgrounds and experiences of rural people, the employment situation and the operation and management of farms in the area. The Department of Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology of the College of Agriculture of West Virginia University is directing the survey in conjunction with the United States Agricultural Research Service.

Since 1940, there has been some general increase in the average income of rural families in West Virginia. However, farm incomes have remained strikingly low as compared with those in many other states, the underemployment of thousands of rural farm and non-farm people continues and within recent months unemployment rates have risen sharply in town and country alike.

This study is being conducted to obtain accurate, detailed information which could be used for any program designed to relieve the situation. Any such program is dependent upon the accuracy of the information upon which it is based.

All families living in selected areas of the 10 counties will be visited by authorized interviewers sometime between June 15 and July 15. Other counties involved are Monongalia, Marion, Harrison, Taylor, Upshur, Barbour, Lewis and Randolph.

FOILING LONG TRUMPS
WHEN it develops that one defender holds a long string of trumps against your high contract, but smartly kept the fact concealed by not doubling, you have to put on your best playing clothes to foil his threat. In rare situations you have an option between two fancy ways of making your contract. One may be along the lines of the grand coup principle, the other a throw-in play. It is a nice feeling when you are able to execute one of those moves and then explain the other method you could have employed.

That bidding, which brought Mrs. Lawrence Smith, of Staten Island, New York, into a slam with nary a trump in dummy, also gave her a chance to show her playing acumen. West decided to open the fourth-best of North's second suit. She had two good reasons. One was that it might contain a removable vital entry for the hearts and the other was that this might make the declarer count East for the Q and hence not finessé.

The second proved the case, but that didn't stop the able declarer.

Distributed by King

Winning that trick with the diamond A, she scored the heart A, ruffed the heart 2 with the club 4 and scored two club tops to disclose the ghastly distribution, discarding from dummy a spade and a diamond. Possibly needing two more dummy entries, she manufactured a second one in spades by braving the finesse of the Q. On the diamond K and the heart K she put two spades, then led the established heart J.

East soundly discarded the spade 9 on this, thereby giving the declarer two options. The one she chose was to discard her final spade, then lead the A, which she couldn't help ruffing, with the club 5. Then with the club 6 she put East in with the 8 and the latter had to lead from the J-9 into the Q-10 for the last two tricks. Then she pointed out that she could have ruffed the heart J with the club 5, gone to dummy with the spade A and led the heart 10. East, with only trumps, could have been over-ruffed, another trump could have been scored, and the final given up to East.

What contrast in playing styles can develop between a contract of 4-Spades by East and one of 4-Diamonds doubled by South?

Market Closes Up Slightly After Lot Of Irregularity

NEW YORK, June 21 (U.S.A.)—The Stock Market waded through a lot of irregularity today, and managed to close slightly higher.

Motors and steels were leaders together with the aircrafts and electrical equipments. The radio-television issues were usually lower and many minus signs appeared in the railroads, chemicals, oils, and utilities.

Lively trading cropped up at the opening in motors when Studebaker opened on 7,000 shares up 1/2 and Packard was on the tape with 6,100 shares unchanged on the heels of news that they had reached an understanding on plans for a merger. Studebaker closed up 1/2 at 19 and Packard remained unchanged at 3 3/4.

Tobacco shares were depressed fractionally. Late in the session, the American Cancer Society released a new study on the relationship between smoking, cancer and heart disease.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 10 cents and reached its second straight new high mark at $126.00, the best level since October of 1929.

The industrial component advanced 30 cents, and the railroads were up 20 cents, while the utilities declined 10 cents. That indicated a hesitant and somewhat mixed advance.

Chicago Board Of Trade
CHICAGO, June 21 (U.S.A.)—Grains had a firm tone on the Board of Trade today even though the extent of their gains was a good deal less than yesterday. Fractional advances were rung up in all but except soybeans.

Four Teachers Named To Posts In Schools Here

Three Are 1954 College Graduates

Although the 1953-54 school year ended only about 10 days ago, administrative officials of the Allegany County public school system already are beginning to fill vacancies in the teaching force for the new year which starts in September.

Assistant Superintendent of Schools Richard T. Rizer yesterday announced the appointment of four new teachers, two of them from Cumberland, one from Piedmont, W. Va., and the fourth from Mason-town, Pa.

Miss Betty Jean Withrow, 268 Fairview Street, Piedmont, will teach music at Cresaptown Elementary and Junior High School. She succeeds Miss Georgia Giannopoulos, who has resigned to take a position in her home town in Pennsylvania.

West Virginian

Miss Withrow was graduated this year from West Virginia University, where she majored in public school music. A graduate of Piedmont High School, she attended Potomac State School in Keyser two years and then transferred to the university at Morgantown. She was a member of Kappa Phi honorary fraternity and a delegate to the Music Educators' National Convention.

Miss Alene Nedra Billings, 420 South Allegany Street, was appointed to teach music at Flintstone Elementary and High School. She succeeds Mrs. Mary Heckler Blanchard, 420 Race Street, who filled the position last year on a part time basis.

A graduate this year of Indiana (Pa.) State Teachers College, where she received a bachelor of science degree in music, Miss Billings earlier was graduated from Allegany High School. At Indiana she participated in the concert band, symphony orchestra, glee club and choir.

Another new teacher is Miss Joanne Elaine Sterbetzel, 529 North Main Street, Masontown, Pa. She will teach vocational home economics at Flintstone High School, succeeding Mrs. Florence Whitworth who occupied the position temporarily during the second semester.

A 1954 graduate of Seton Hill College, Greensburg, Pa., Miss Sterbetzel did her practice teaching at Jeannette (Pa.) High School. She was president of the college Home Economics Club during her final year and was her college's delegate to the state convention.

Ronald Richard Kellough, 800 Washington Street, was appointed to teach boys' physical education, seventh and eighth reading and ninth grade social studies at Oldtown High School. This is a new position created because of the expanded facilities in the new combination auditorium-gymnasium.

A 1950 graduate of the University of Maryland, Kellough majored in physical education and health. He has been employed most recently as assistant manager of a Home Finance Company office in Baltimore.

Kellough was graduated from Allegany High School in 1944. He subsequently attended Potomac State School, Frostburg State Teachers College and the University of Maryland. In his final semester at College Park, Kellough did his practice teaching at Fort Hill High School under the direction of William P. Hahn and John J. Cavanaugh.

Three Amcelle Employees Given Gold Watches

Three Frostburg men, Manuel T. Winner, Joseph C. Layman, and Samuel G. Myers, were presented gold watches recently by R. Finley Thompson, Amcelle plant manager, in recognition of 25 years of service with the Celanese Corporation of America.

Winner and Layman, both spinning employees, were also honored by John Bestwick, superintendent of spinning and auxiliaries, who awarded them five-star Celanese buttons, emblematic of 25 years of service. A similar award was presented to Myers, a spinning research employee, by A. W. Keight, superintendent of spinning and textile engineering development.

Winner, one of the youngest employees ever to complete a quarter-century of service, is married and has one son. Hunting is his favorite hobby.

Layman, whose hobby is wood-working in his own shop, is married and the father of four children. For the past five years, he has been a member of the spinning department's safety committee.

Myers is married and the father of two children, and hunting is also his favorite hobby. He is a member of various Masonic orders, including Lodge 99.

Judge Declares Missing Man Is Legally Dead

John C. Dyche, formerly of 618 Virginia Avenue, who left Cumberland for Baltimore September 15, 1942, and was never seen alive again by his local relatives, was declared legally dead yesterday by Associate Judge George Henderson in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Judge Henderson also declared that Mrs. Judine Shaffer McCracken, 408 Fourth Street, his niece, is entitled to the proceeds from a $345 life insurance policy which Dyche obtained in 1938 and in which he named Mrs. McCracken as beneficiary.

The judge's actions were taken in an equity suit filed by Mrs. McCracken, through Attorney William L. Wilson, March 18.

Mrs. McCracken explained in her declaration that more than seven years have elapsed since Dyche was last heard from. He would be 51 years old now if still living.

On June 13, 1938, Dyche took out a $345 life insurance policy with the Eureka-Maryland Assurance Corporation of Baltimore and named his niece as beneficiary. Since his disappearance she has continued to pay the 25-cent weekly premiums on the policy, having paid about $150.

Judge Henderson decided on the basis of testimony by Mrs. McCracken and Jud Shaffer, Dyche's only heirs-at-law, that the former South Cumberland man should be declared legally dead.

Four Area Boys Nominated As State Farmers

State Farmer degrees will be awarded this morning. Additional candidates are expected to be named.

Among those already chosen to receive the award are Norman Smith and Ronald Slider of Flintstone and Robert Lowdermilk and James Meese of Northern Garrett.

Kelly Plant Is Target Of Mock Alert

Five Fire Companies Respond To Call

Five fire departments converged at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant last night in another of the mock air raid alerts being carried out by the Fire Branch of the Allegany County Civil Defense program.

Some 29 men and five pieces of equipment answered the surprise call, which came in at 7 p. m.

Alvey B. Poole, assistant fire chief at Central Station and liaison officer of the Fire Branch, said a truck and men from Cumberland went to the tire plant, as did volunteer firemen and trucks from Ridgeley, LaVale, Bowling Green, and Wiley Ford.

Joseph G. Wenrich of the Cresaptown Fire Department, who is official observer, said the surprise raid went off well and the trucks and men arrived shortly after the alert was called.

Assistant Chief Poole pointed out that the traffic regulations are observed by the various departments in reporting to the mock raid alerts but if an actual raid occurred the equipment would reach various industrial plants in much faster time.

During last night's run, Corriagville stood by for LaVale, Cresaptown for Bowling Green and Short Gap volunteers for Wiley Ford. Similar runs to other industrial plants are expected in the near future, Poole added.

Rec Department Plans Activities For Summer

Numerous Vacation Programs Scheduled

Now that the summer season is here, the program of the City Recreation is in full swing with a number of activities in progress and many programs slated for the near future.

The department, headed by Robert E. Pence, has completed many projects and activities to keep the youth of the city occupied for the vacation season.

Among the planned programs are the Fourth of July fireworks display slated at Constitution Park, to thrill thousands of residents who view the colorful displays each year.

The playgrounds throughout the city will have supervised programs and a highlight of each week will be the showing of a movie at dusk on every playlot. Learn-to-swim programs on each playlot are also on the agenda.

The best of talent will be displayed by the youth of Cumberland at each of the playlots and winner of the individual show will vie for honors in the Intra-City Talent Show held later in the season.

A checkers and Chinese-checkers Intra-City Tournament in three age groups will be held to match the wits of both boys and girls.

Pence also said an attempt is underway to arrange for a playground near Benjamin Bancker Homes for the children who reside there and in the neighborhood.

Among the items for recreation loaned out by the department are P. A. systems and microphones, record players, square dance records, projector and screen and picnic kits. A large number of baby sitters lists have also been distributed throughout the city.

Racing Meet Bus Schedule Announced

A bus will return to Cumberland after the end of each race and buses will be on hand near the grandstand to bring back residents at the end of the racing day.

Senator Kimble Reviews Career At GOP Rally

Cites Accomplishments Of 22 Years In Senate

Sen. Robert B. Kimble, minority leader in the State Senate, last night reviewed the highlights of his 22-year legislative career during a rally at Corriagville Volunteer Firemen's Hall.

He pointed out that through his efforts the C&O Canal Parkway Bill was introduced and passed providing for $350,000 in State appropriations to obtain the right-of-way property.

Cites Route 40 Work

Senator Kimble reviewed his efforts in getting the improvement work of U. S. Route 40 from Cumberland to Hancock set in motion and remarked that surveying crews are now working on Martins Mountain and Polish Mountain.

He said efforts are being made to have the work stepped up in order that the project will be started within the next year.

In praising the work of the volunteer firemen, Senator Kimble remarked that in 1932 there were eight companies in Allegany County and appropriations for their maintenance amounted to some $3300.

Today there are 21 volunteer companies with an annual appropriation from the County Commissioners of $22,000. Mandatory legislation made the funds possible to the firemen, the senator added.

Introduced Blue Cross

In 1935, Senator Kimble said he introduced the Blue Cross Insurance Bill and it became effective two years later. Up until the present day some $60,000,000 has been paid to subscribers requiring hospital care.

The State Unemployment Compensation Bill was introduced by the senator in 1938. With amendments made every few years, he said, the compensation rate has been raised from $15 in 1938 to $30 this year, and a total of $166,000,000 has been paid to unemployed persons out of work due to no fault of their own.

The paying of the compensation, said Sen. Kimble, benefits all the residents in that it creates a purchasing power to maintain the economy.

Highway Death Report Given

Maryland's highway death toll continues to mount during 1954 and up until the end of May the total number of deaths was 184.

The State Police of Maryland in their daily death report for May point out that 41 persons were killed on the highways during that month.

A day-by-day account of the deaths shows that 13 persons were killed on Saturdays; seven on Sundays; six on Wednesdays and Fridays, and three each on Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays.

In reminding motorists who drive the highways of Maryland, State Police say, "Highway Safety is Everybody's Business. Let's Stop This Killing."

Equity Suits Filed

Three equity suits were filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Edward Nolan vs. Lucille C. Nolan, George F. Kearschner vs. Marie B. Kearschner and Alma Lee Hiner Adams vs. George Kenneth Adams.

Amvets Meet Tonight

A general membership meeting of J. Louis Wolford Post No. 1, Amvets, will be held today at 8:30 p. m. in the Post Home, 16 North Mechanic Street. Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Bottle Collection Campaign To Continue Until Saturday

Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts of the Cumberland District of Potomac Council began their soft drink bottle collection drive yesterday, and will continue to canvass the city until Saturday, when members of the Allegany County Beverage Association, sponsor of the drive, will pick up all bottles collected by the Scouts.

Collection centers will be set up at different points throughout the city, as well as in Cresaptown and LaVale, and on Saturday between 10 a. m. and noon, the beverage association will send trucks to the collection points to receive all bottles.

At that time, the collectors will present to each Cub or Scout troop a slip crediting it with the number of bottles collected, and then the various companies to which the bottles belong will send checks to the troops.

The companies will pay the Scouts two cents each for the regular-size soft drink bottles, and five cents for the large, quart-size bottles.

In addition to the money received for the collection of the bottles, there will be a first, second, and third prize to the Cub packs and Scout troops collecting the greatest number of bottles. The prizes will be five, four, and three cases of soft drinks, given by the beverage association.

Housewives are urged to look in their cellars, back porches, and other places where bottles may have been collected, and have them ready when the boys come to collect them.

Proceeds of the drive will help finance scout and cub activities.

Meeting Scheduled Tomorrow Night

This morning a group of state officials and area sportsmen will leave Flintstone by auto and make an inspection of Town Creek for the purpose of ascertaining what improvements can be made to assure better fishing facilities, and to learn if more fish can be secured from the State in a stocking program.

J. Millard Hughes, president of the Town Creek Valley Farmers Association, last night said those expected to make the trip include Edwin M. Barry, chief of the Inland Fish Management of Maryland, and Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden.

At 8 p. m. today the group will meet with other interested sportsmen at Slider's Hall, Pumpkin Center, to discuss their findings. A question-and-answer session is expected to be held, Hughes added.

Entertainment will be provided and refreshments will be served. Hughes said fishermen interested in seeing the waterway improved for better fishing are welcome to attend.
